A Prepaid (90% of the people) states

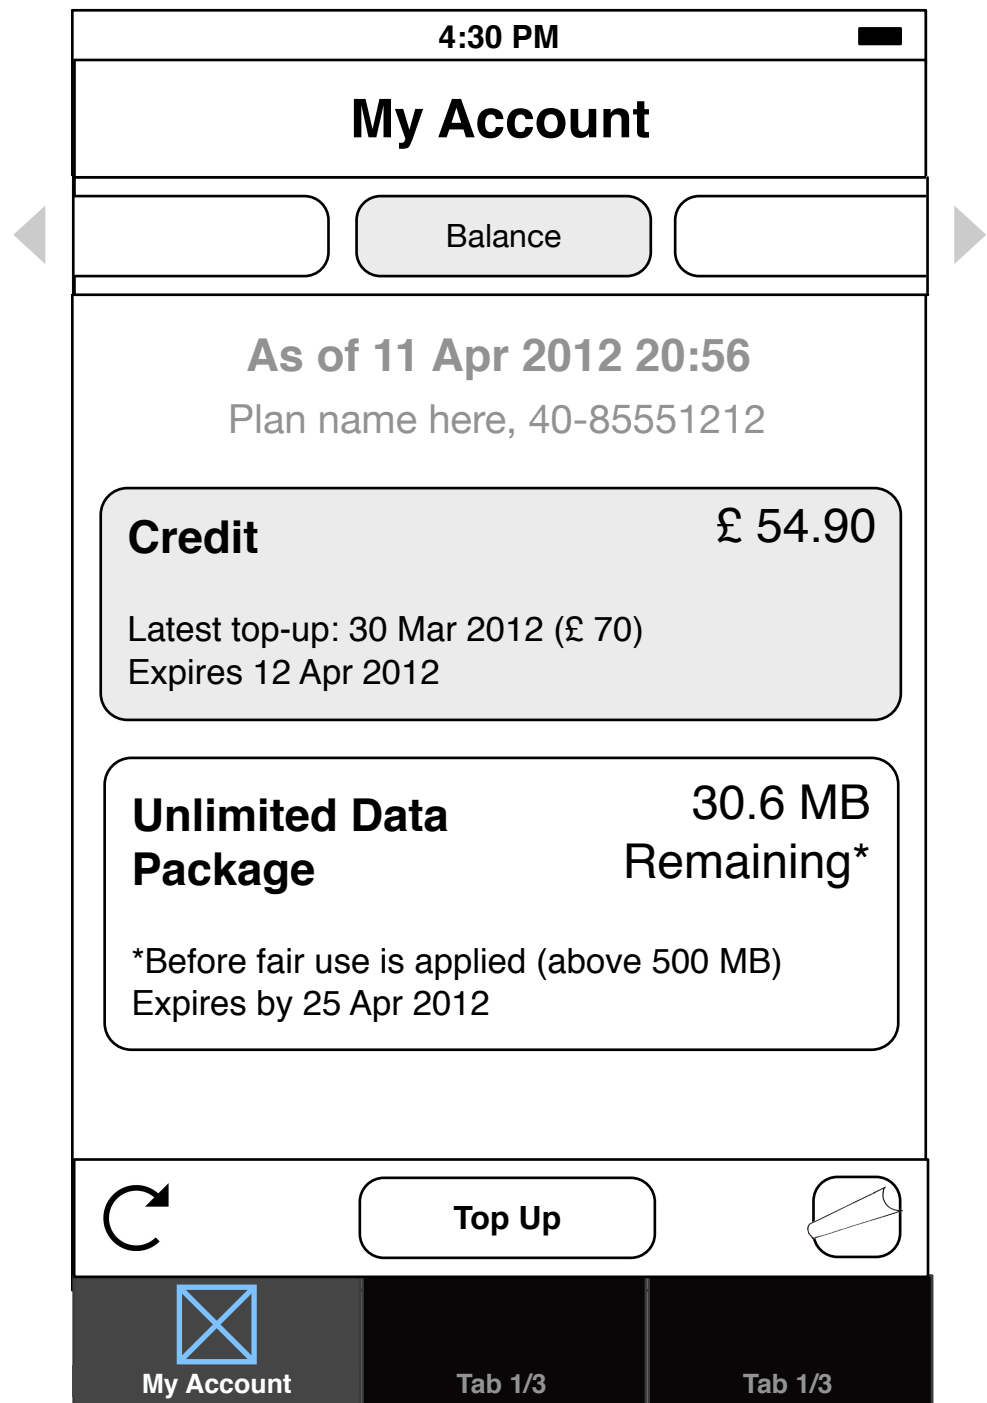

A0: Pattern

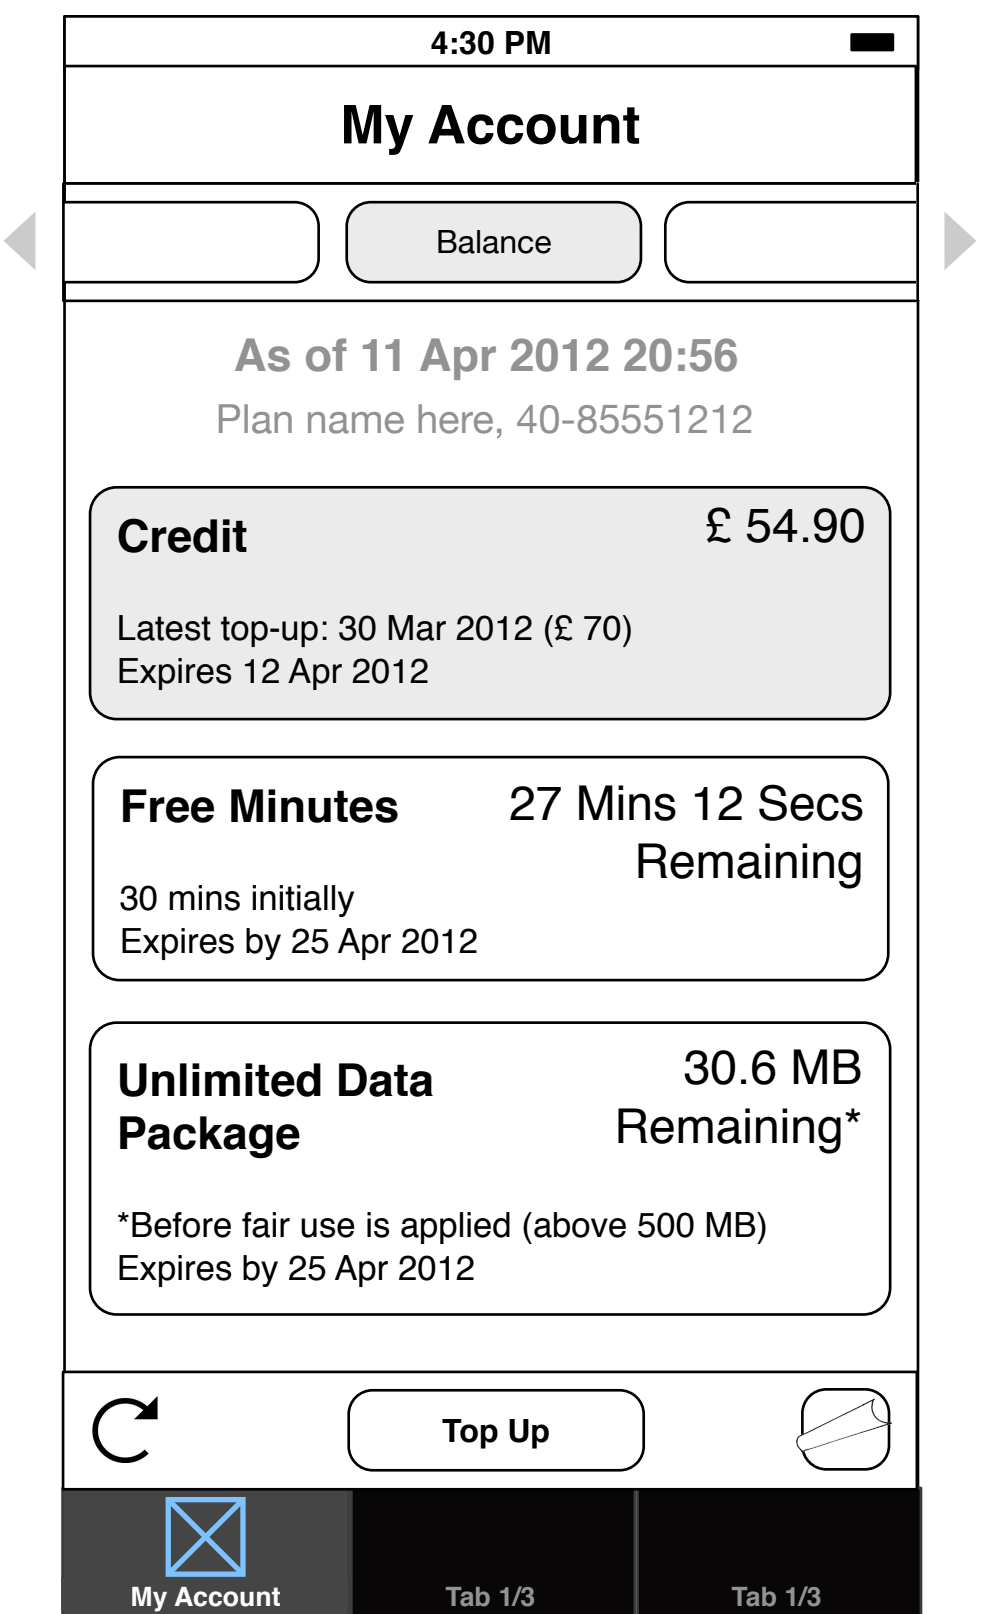

A1: Credit only

A2: With data package

A3: With everything

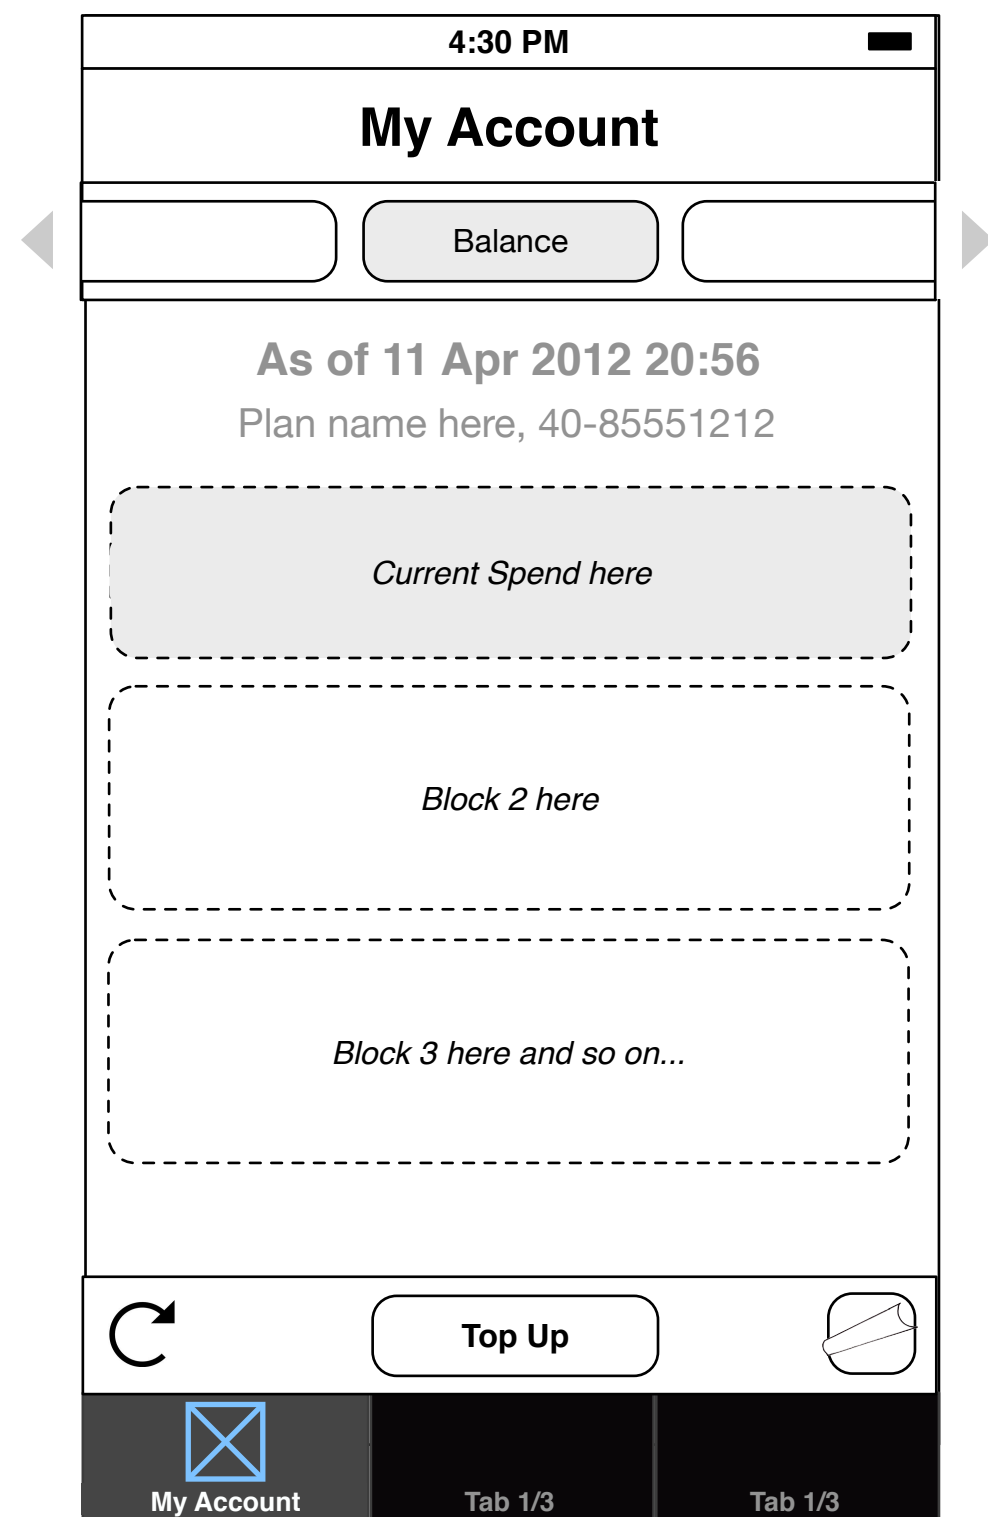

NOTE: Possible blocks for PREPAID are:

- Credit (mandatory)
- Data package (optional)
- Promotion package (optional)

Blocks are ordered by decreasing priority of consumption: sources consumed first appear at the top of the list.

B Postpaid (4%) states

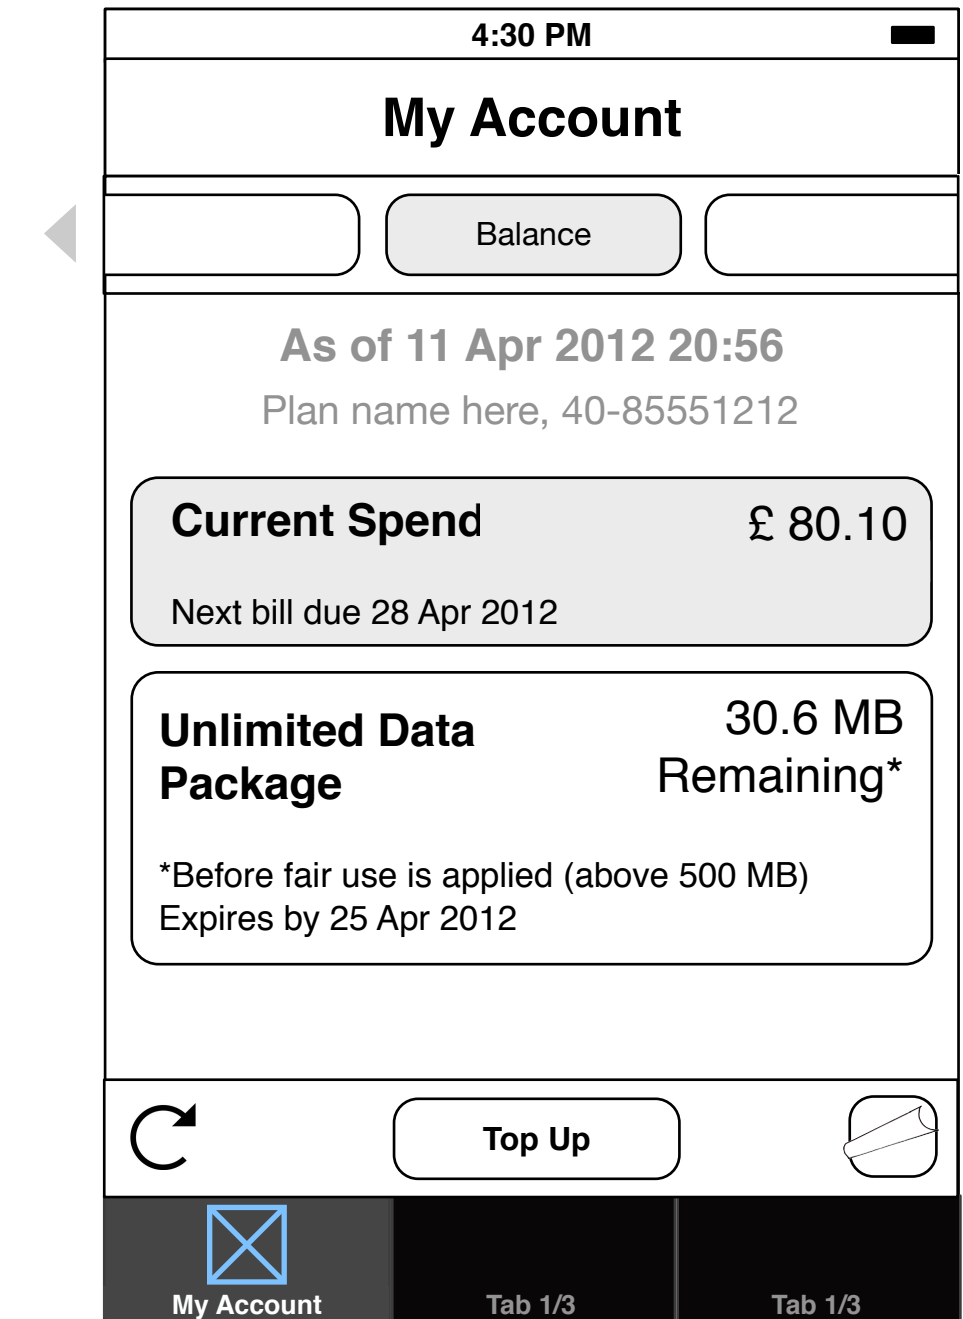

B0: Pattern

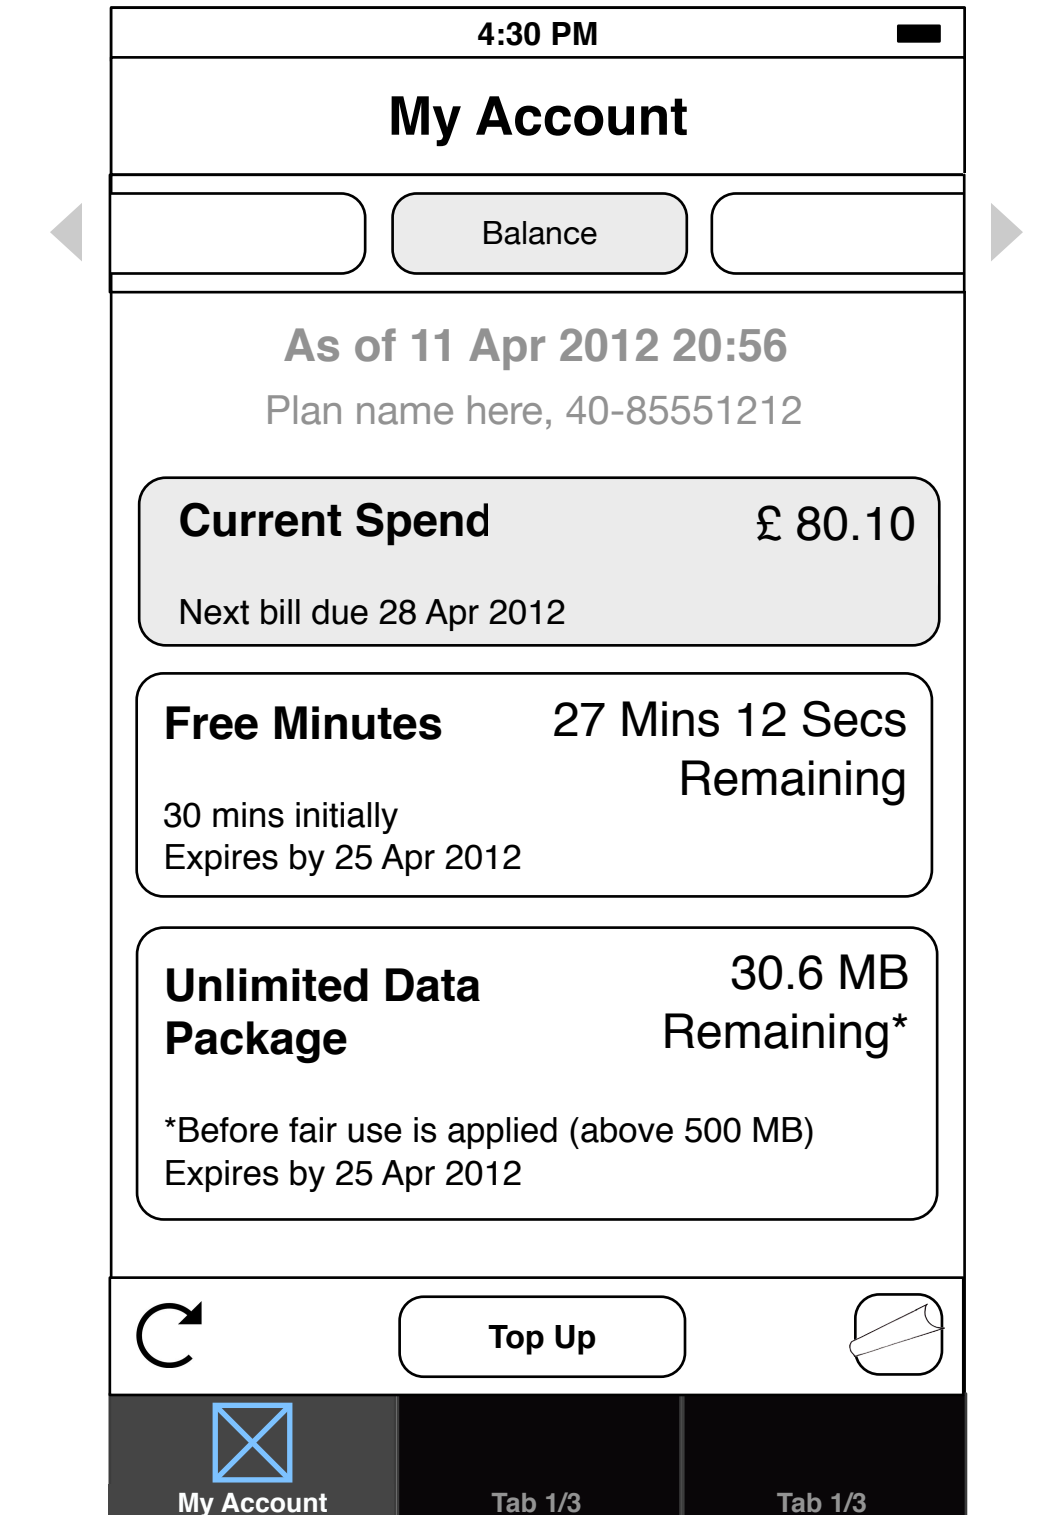

B1: Current spend only

B2: With data package

B3: With everything

NOTE: Possible blocks for POSTPAID are:

Current Spend (mandatory)

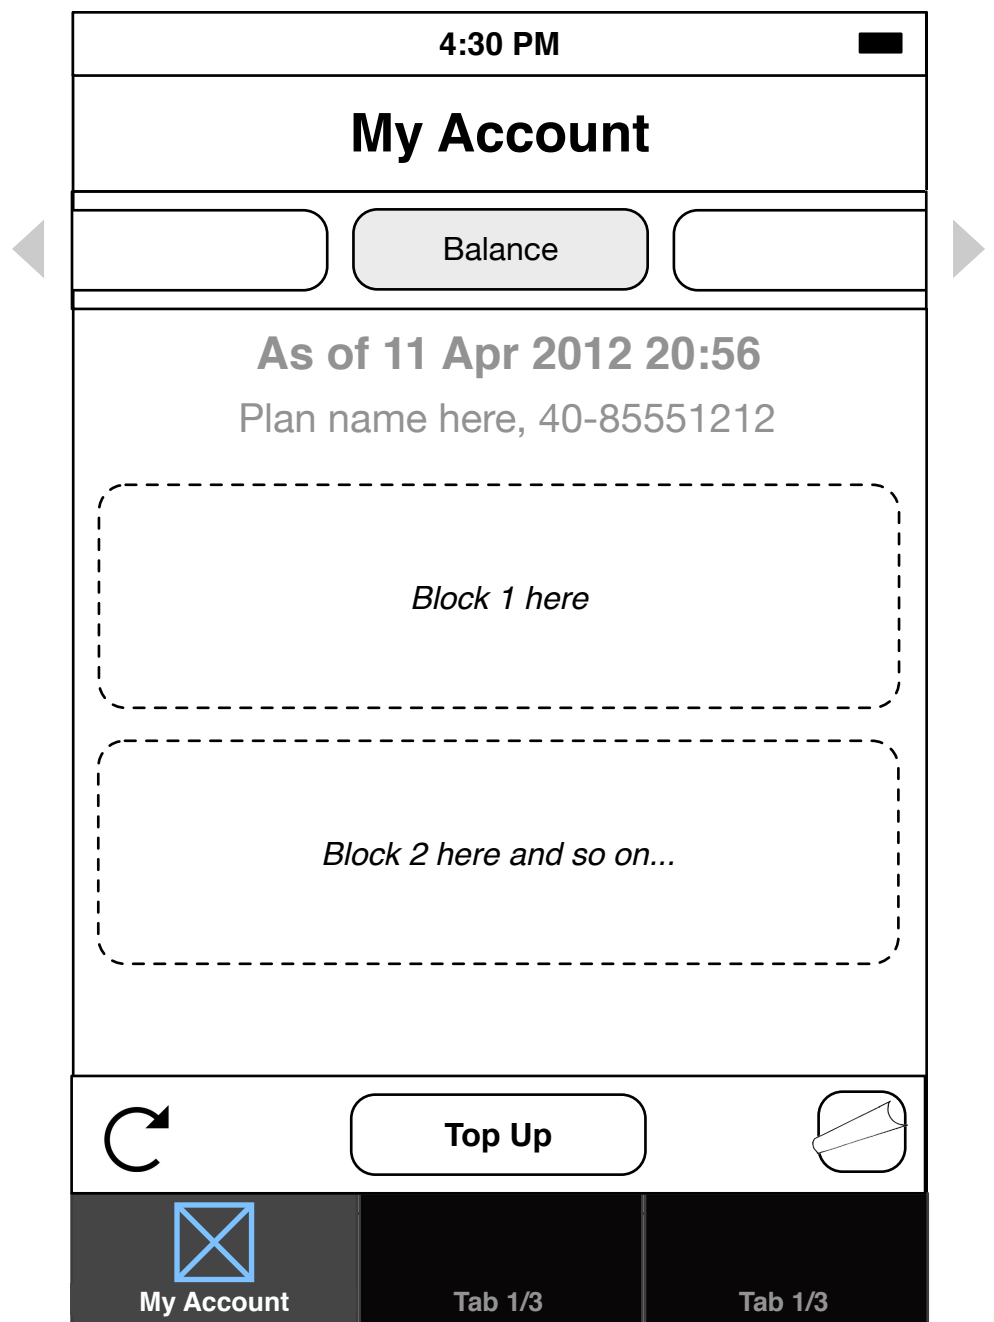

Data package (optional)

Promotion package (optional)

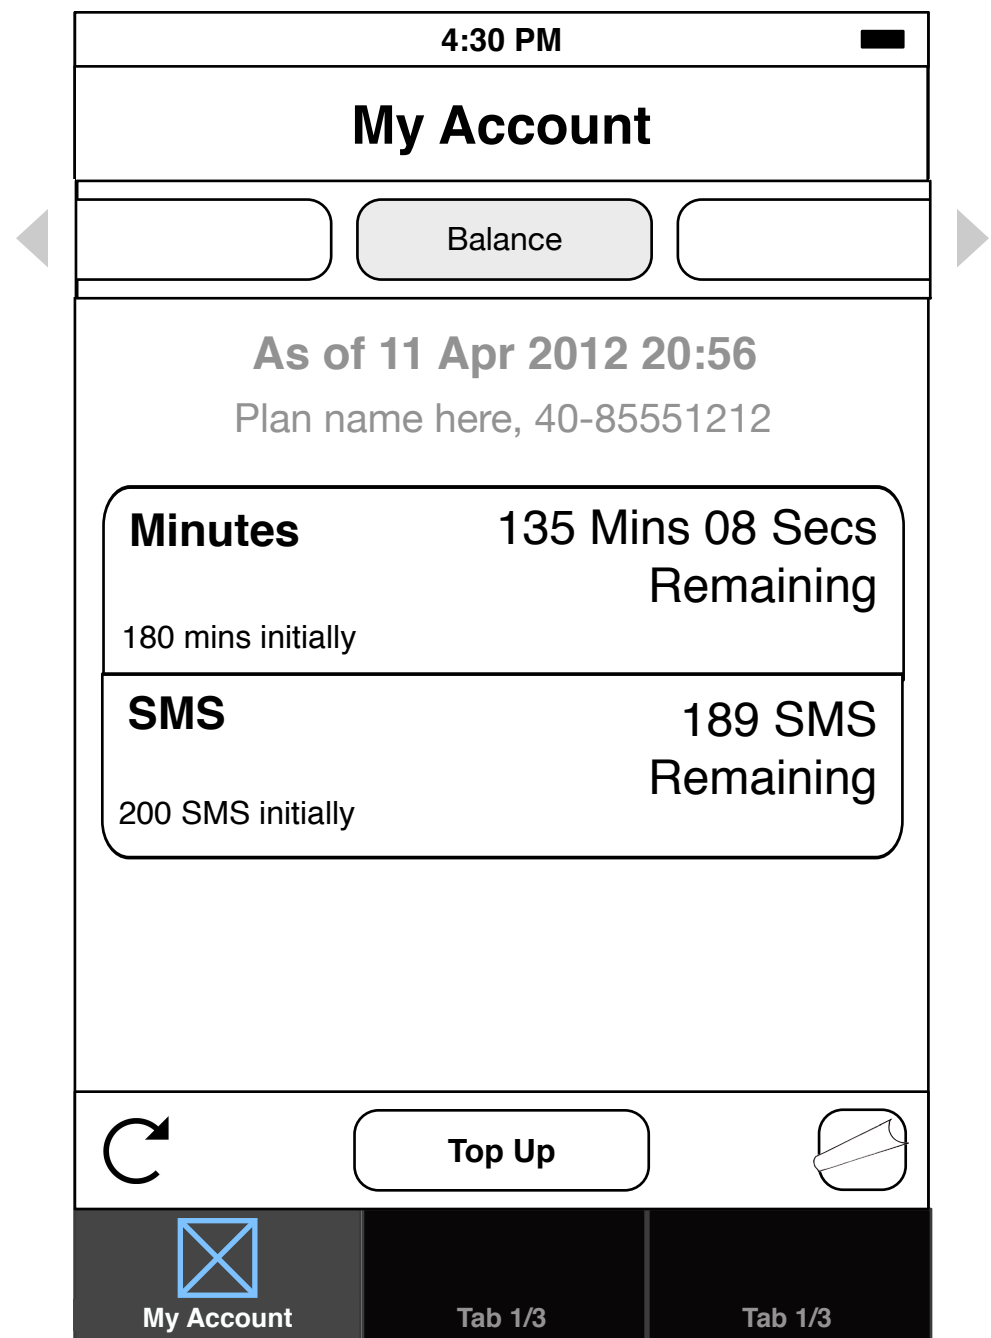

Blocks are ordered by decreasing priority of consumption (n/a for Current Spend)

C Postpaid C&C (6%) states

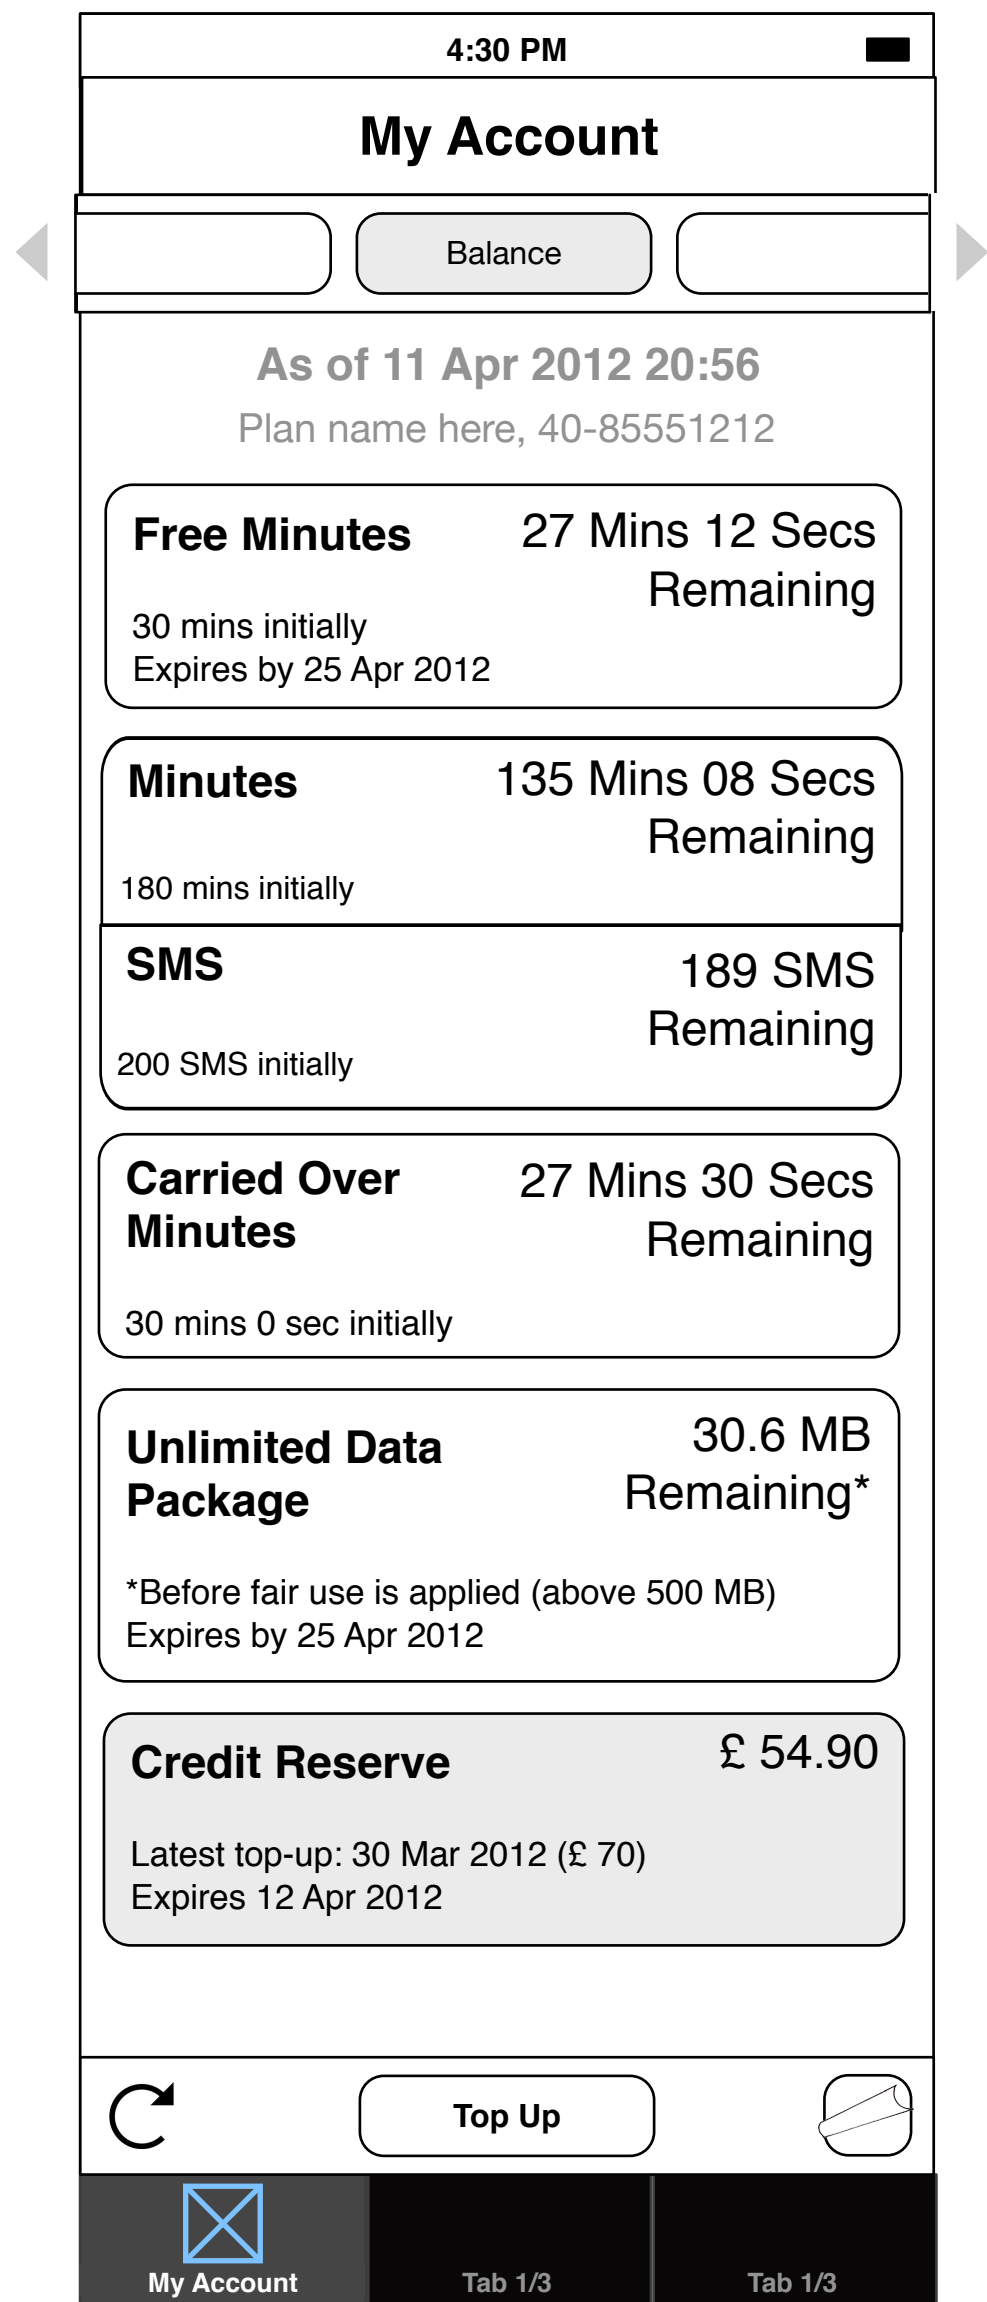

C0: Pattern

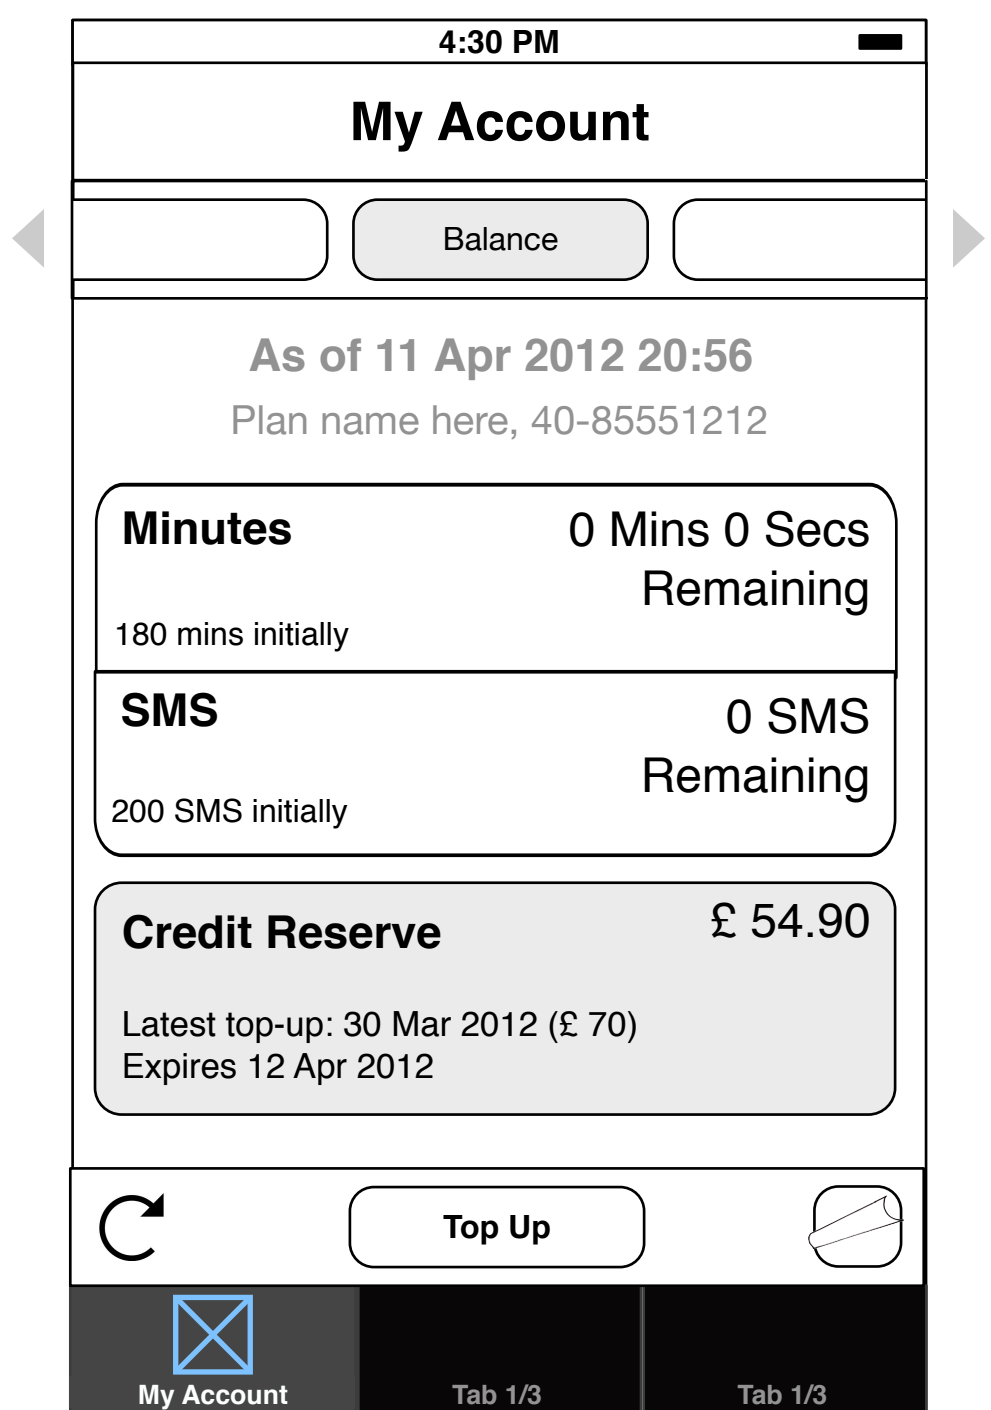

C1: Plan as usual only

C2: With everything

C3: Temporary 'prepaid' mode

NOTE: Possible blocks for POSTPAID C&C are:

Current spend (mandatory)
Plan as usual package (mandatory)
Data package (optional)
Promotion package (optional)
Carried over (optional)
Credit (optional)

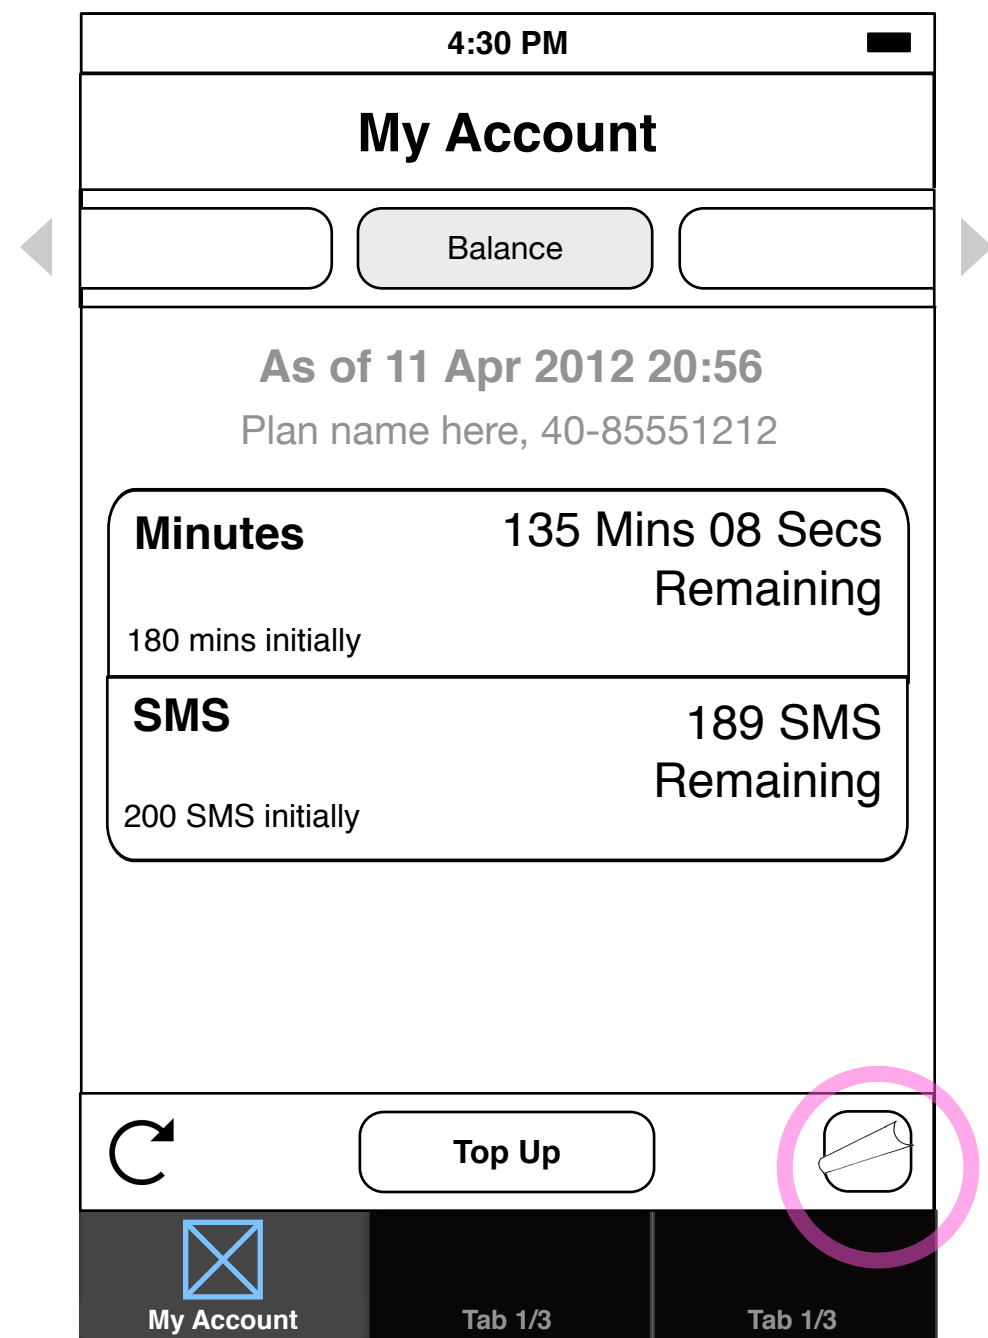

Blocks are ordered by decreasing priority of consumption (n/a for Current spend)

Here, user has consumed all their plan as usual, and is now using the credit reserve.

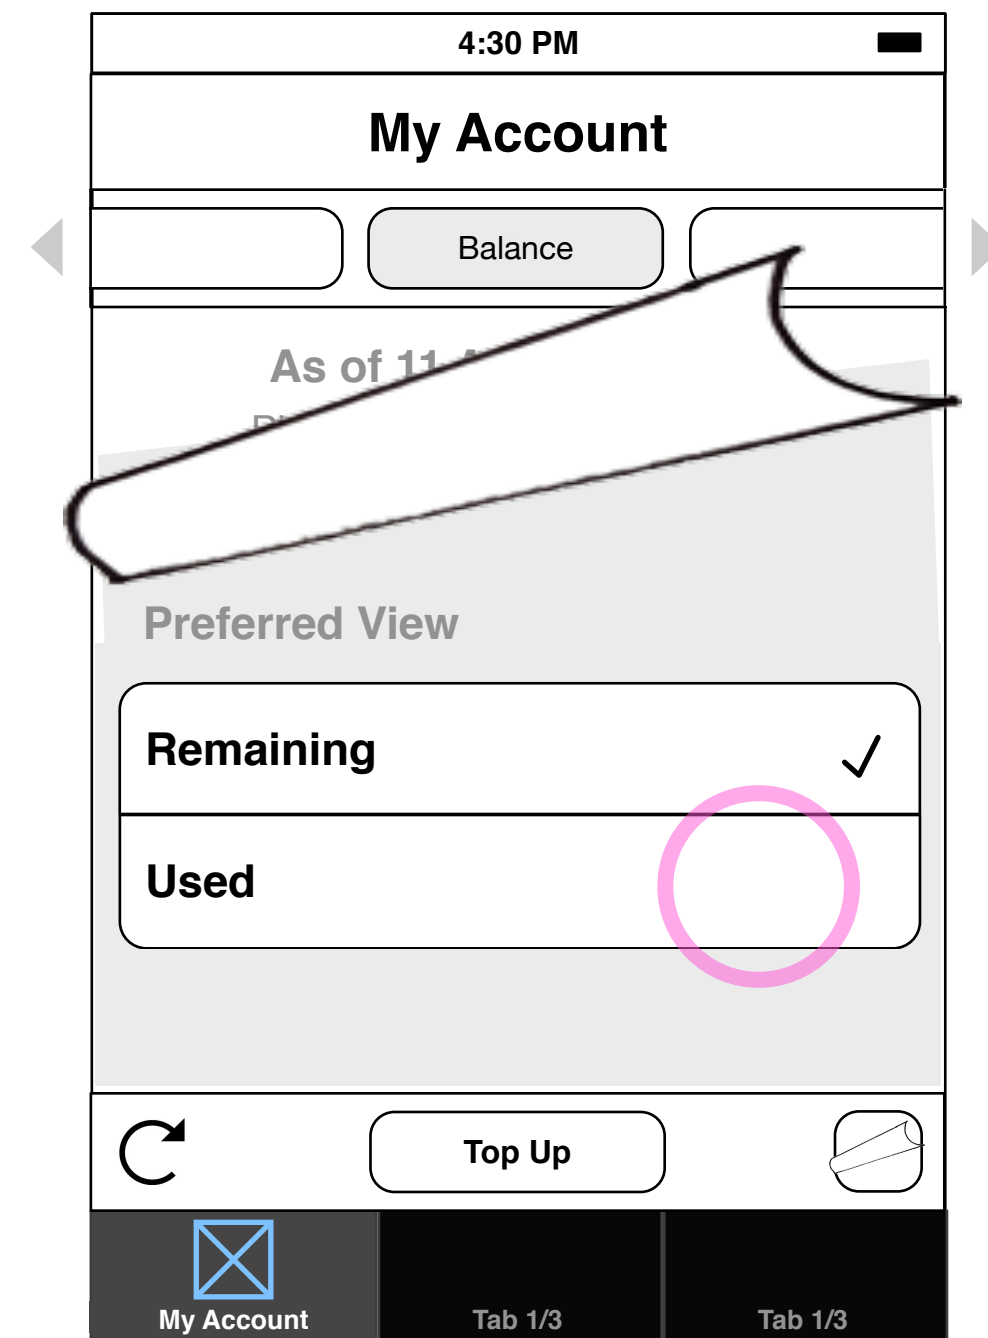

Here, user has bought extra credit that will be used when all other sources are consumed. User will then be in temporary 'prepaid' mode.
